ISSUE: This item presents information about the 2014 State of the System Report, the highest reporting level of the Student Success Scorecard framework. This year’s report includes the System Goals, a series of statewide measures and goals that align with student success.

BACKGROUND: The Scorecard Advisory Group, a body that guided the development of the Scorecard in 2012, recommended a four-tiered accountability framework where each level targets a difference audience or user. The State of the System report is the first level of the framework, a high-level overview for legislators and policy makers that summarizes a number of system level aggregations of data and annual performance. The System Goals are included in this second annual report and align with the Student Success Task Force recommendations and the legislation that followed including Senate Bill 195 (Liu) and the 2014-15 Budget trailer bill.

RECOMMENDATION: This item is presented for information and discussion.

ANALYSIS: The sections contained in the 2014 State of the System Report focus on the system's performance relative to access, progress and completion.

The system level metrics for access and progress include:

- Systemwide Participation Rates
- Students and Sections
- Full-Time Equivalent Students
- Course Success Rates

The completion trends in the report are:

- Annual Number of Transfers
- Annual Number of Awards
- "Top 25" Credit Programs
- Systemwide Scorecard Metrics
